

Doctorate in Curriculum and Instruction with a Major in English Education (69-87 SCH)

Interdepartmental Core (9 SCH)

- EDG 6221 Curriculum Theory
- EDF 5548: Philosophy of Teaching and Learning (3)
- EDF 5461 Policy Studies in Education

Seminars (2 SCH) (should be offered beginning Fall 2013 on a rotating schedule)

- Action Research (1 SCH)
- Grant Writing (1 SCH)
- Online Teaching/Learning (1 SCH)
- Program Evaluation (1 SCH)

Research Methods Core (16 SCH) Required (10 SCH):

- EDF 5481 Methods of Educational Research (3)
- EDF 5400: Descriptive and Inferential Statistics (4)
- ENC 5720 Research Methods in Rhetoric and Composition (3)

Choice (6 SCH):

- EDF 5401: General Linear Modeling Applications (4)
- EDF 5432 Measurement Theory I (3)
- EDF 5445 Assessment of Learning Outcomes (3)
- EDF 5448 Scale/Instrument Development (3)
- EDF 5461 Intro to Program Evaluation
- EDF 6937: Seminar in Advanced Research Problems
- EDF 6475: Qualitative Methods in Educational Research (3)
- EDF 6479: Qualitative Data Analysis (3)
- EDF 5449 Survey Research Methods (3)

Major (18-36 SCH) English Education Concentration (18 SCH)

Fall Core:

- LAE 5064 Reader Response to Literature (3)
- RED 5646 Trends/Issues Readings (3)

Spring Core:

- LAE 5736 Written Composition: Theory/Research (3)

Doctorate in Curriculum and Instruction with a Major in English Education (69-87 SCH)

- LAE 5637 Problems and Trends in English Education (3)

Summer Core:

- LAE 5873 Enhancing Teaching with Technology (3)
- LAE 5336 Applied Linguistics for English Teachers (3)

English Concentration (18 SCH) – Required for individuals without 18 hours of graduate level English or master's degree in a content area. Areas: Rhetoric and Composition, Writing and Media, Literature, Creative Writing

Dissertation Research (24 SCH) Includes satisfactory completion of a preliminary written exam based on the English Education concentration and research agenda, a comprehensive exam (3 submitted/published pedagogical or research articles, significant collaboration on grant proposals), dissertation, and an oral defense of the dissertation.